There is not a day that goes past without another data breach being notified. Whether you are a small business or a large enterprise, there is one common denominator. And that's human mistakes, human errors that place their organisation at risk.

In Verizon 2015 DBIR, that 90% of all incidents are people related - whether it's goofing up, getting infected, behaving badly, or losing stuff, most incidents.

Keeping on top of the security threat landscape is difficult enough. But keeping a handle of people unintentional and careless actions is another ball game.

Enjoy!
